The Wickhams: Christmas at Pemberley

The Lowell Offering

The Lowell Offering
FROM BONNIE J. BUTKAS, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Thank you for spending the holidays with us! We’re celebrating with The Wickhams: Christmas at Pemberley, the companion piece to last season’s Miss Bennet: Christmas at Pemberley. Playwrights Lauren Gunderson and Margot Melcon knew exactly what regional theatres needed—new holiday shows that would waltz with Jane Austen’s beloved Pride and Prejudice characters. The Wickhams is a delightful literary romp that celebrates the season with heart.

This is our gift to you. We want to ask for a gift from you.

A key piece of our financial stability is growing revenue in order to support the high-quality productions you have come to expect. We’ve heard from you that you want more live music and larger casts, and we responded in kind with The Wickhams…, Cambodian Rock Band, Nine Simone: Four Women, and The Lowell Offering. Larger casts, complicated technical elements, and more live music stretch our resources. We want you to have the best, and we need your help to get there.

Help us fill our theatre with folks from across the Greater Merrimack Valley region. Tell your friends, neighbors, and colleagues about MRT. Bring them to a show. Share the heck out of our Facebook posts. Buy them MRT gift certificates. Get yourself a subscription.

Ticket sales and subscriptions cover less than half the expense of creating our productions—donations cover the rest. Please consider making a gift to MRT before the end of the calendar year. Help us bring you the best.

Thank you for being part of the MRT family.

Happy Holidays and Happy New Year!

Bonnie J. Butkas
Executive Director

FROM TERRY BERLINER, INTERIM ARTISTIC DIRECTOR

Just days before Christmas, The Wickhams make quite an entrance at Pemberley Estate. They, and the whole cast of characters in The Wickhams: Christmas at Pemberley, turn the world right side up, upside down, and right side up again in a wild ride of determined independence, betrayal, jealousy, and love.

When the character Lizzy says, “They do amplify each other, do they not?” Her brilliant query rings true for every well-drawn character on the stage. And, what does that sound like or mean? You’ll know when you see it. And, you’ll know when you hear it. It’s like when two close friends bring out the best, the worst, the ridiculous, and the truth in each other.

Lizzy also astutely comments, “No one will say anything directly and yet the air is positively thick with opinion.” Uhm. Yes. We all know what that feels like. I mean what else would we expect when we bring close-knit and not-so-close-knit family members together to celebrate the holidays?

When Mrs. Reynolds asserts, “I can hear you listening” it is the sign of a woman who knows who’s who and what’s what. In The Wickhams we get to peek into her domain where she rules the roost, misses nothing, and stumbles upon everything. Yet, still, for an intimate moment with a true love, everyone goes downstairs; to escape the family antics upstairs they go downstairs; to find someone they have lost they go downstairs. Everyone runs there to find a good job, to be saved, or to eat the most delicious biscuits. If I were at Pemberley, that’s where I’d want to be, too.

And who are all of these wayward souls who land together in this delightful new play by Lauren Gunderson and Margot Melcon? A footman (Brian), a new housemaid (Cassie), the housekeeper (Mrs. Reynolds), Fitzwilliam Darcy and his wife Lizzy, and of course Lydia, and George Wickham.

Enjoy the show. And have a wonderful holiday season.

Warm wishes,

Terry Berliner
Interim Artistic Director
Playwright Margot Melcon recently revealed that Christmas at Pemberley will be a trilogy! She and Lauren Gunderson are currently working on the final installment, which will feature the heretofore unseen sister Kitty (Catherine Bennet) and Darcy’s younger sister, Georgiana.

How did you and Lauren decide on a story about Lydia Wickham? How did writing this one compare to writing the first?

We had such fun writing Miss Bennet, and audiences seemed to respond to continuing the story of these beloved Pride and Prejudice characters as much as we did. Miss Bennet gives a little bit of insight into what has become of Lydia two years into her marriage to George Wickham, but Lauren and I both thought there was more story there. Lydia is such a sparkly and charming character, and she ended the novel sort of stuck in this terrible situation. We wanted to see if we could do better for her.

Since The Wickhams is set over the same few days at Christmas as Miss Bennet, writing this one was a little tricky in that we had to layer the action of what was happening upstairs in the world of Miss Bennet with what was happening downstairs in the servants’ hall in the world of The Wickhams. We wanted to make sure if we could do better for her.

Is there anything you think audiences might not realize about Mrs. Wickham?

That marriage isn’t necessarily the only option for a happy ending. Miss Bennet is a love story, for sure, but it’s also about being yourself, and being accepted exactly for who you are by the people who love you. I think The Wickhams is also about self-discovery and acceptance, and about being able to lean on those around you who truly love you to become exactly who you’re meant to be.
Don’t let them tough it out.

TIME AND PLACE

December, 1815

The lower floor of the grand Pemberley Estate, particularly the common room where servants gather and eat.
Thank you to the thousands who poured into Lowell for Cambodian Rock Band, and a particular shout-out to our community partners — Cambodian Mutual Assistance Association, The Luna Theater, Boston Asian American Film Festival, Dr. George Chigas and UMass Lowell, Arts Emerson, and the Center of Asian American Media, among others, as well as musicians Sang Eng Oum, Seng Ty, and Sang Orn Oum.

“Proud to be Asian” Linda Chin of the Cambridge Community Foundation, Sampan Newspaper, and Theatre Mirror wrote that Cambodian Rock Band is “representative of the power of arts and culture — particularly live theater and music — to connect people, to sometimes even save them. Arts organizations like the Merrimack Repertory Theatre have the power to produce, to convene artists and audiences and connect communities, to bring audience members of all generations, cultural and socioeconomic backgrounds together in the shared experience of live theater. This cast’s care and respect for their work, this play, the creative community they’re part of, and each other, was evident onstage and off. Yes, they make me proud to be a fellow theater artist, and to be Asian.”
